

Deputy Catering Manager

Working weekdays 7am to 3pm

The British Geological Survey (BGS) is one of the world's leading and forward thinking geological science institutes with a focus on both public good science for government and geoscientific research to understand earth and environmental processes. A position has arisen within the Catering department of the Estates team at our headquarters in Keyworth, Nottingham for a highly motivated and enthusiastic Deputy Catering Manager to assist with the provision of a catering service to the site.

Working with the catering Manager and their team, the role will provide a comprehensive catering service to the customers on site and visitors to our suite of meeting and conference facilities. The role will be required to carry out all functions within a kitchen environment, in addition to working with the Catering Manager to develop the service. As such, a formal catering qualification is essential.

Starting salary will be between £18,190 per annum and £19,350 per annum depending on qualifications and experience. Working hours will be 37 per week excluding lunch breaks. A generous benefits package is also offered, including a company pension scheme, childcare voucher scheme, free on-site parking, 30 days annual leave plus 10.5 days public and privilege holidays.

Applications are handled by the RCUK Shared Services Centre; to apply please visit our job board at http://www.topcareer.jobs/Vacancy/irc241045_7148.aspx and submit your up-to-date C.V. and covering letter, which clearly outlines why you are applying for this post and how you meet the criteria described in this advertisement.
