

British Geological Survey Open Day

Saturday

27 June 2015

10am–4pm

Nicker Hill, Keyworth
Nottingham, NG12 5GG

Free to attend and suitable for all ages

British
Geological Survey

NATURAL ENVIRONMENT RESEARCH COUNCIL

Come and have a closer look at the British Geological Survey.

Visit our Open Day: Saturday 27 June 2015, 10am–4pm
Keyworth, Nottingham

We will have a packed programme of tours, talks and interactive displays. Experience a unique glimpse of the past, present and future and meet our scientists working with volcanoes, ground hazards and many other exciting areas of science.

It is the 200th anniversary of the William Smith map: a unique map which kick-started the Industrial Revolution — see the map and talk to the man himself! We will be joined by scientists working in polar exploration, atmospheric research, ecology, Earth observation and oceanography — and the London Volcano — as part of the 50th anniversary celebration of our parent organisation, the Natural Environment Research Council.

Book your visit online at www.bgs.ac.uk/openday where you can also see the latest details. Follow us on Twitter and Facebook for ‘behind-the-scenes’ sneak previews.

 @BritGeoSurvey

 British Geological Survey

